		VALYA	Hallen still hasn't returned, and now Athriel's missing? I can't take much more of this.
		TAMRAND	Our hunters are combing the area. I'm sure they'll find them soon.
		VALYA	The cave is a day's walk from here. It can't have taken them this long to get back.
		TAMRAND	Be patient. Folks were scattered all over the hills when those soldiers came through.
		VALYA	That's what I'm afraid of.

	Is someone missing?
		VALYA	Listening, were you?
		VALYA	It's my son Hallen, if you must know. He went with a group of healers to gather herbs, before the attack. They haven't returned.
	Where were they headed?
		VALYA	A cave in the mountains, on the other side of the river. Look for a hawthorne tree marked with elf runes, then follow the trail north until you come to a ravine.
		TAMRAND	Don't tell outsiders about it!
		VALYA	Quiet, you.
	What were they looking for?
		VALYA	Somnis, of course. What else grows in a cave? We use it to soothe aches and pains, or staunch a bleeding wound. We'll be needing even more of it now.
	Anything I should be wary of?
		VALYA	Just the soldiers. Oh, and Athriel's dog, Maggot. He's protective, but he'll bark before he bites.
	That's all I need to know.
		VALYA	Please let me know if you find anything.

		NYLEN	Should've known he'd be no help. "Not my problem you can't keep track of your own goats." Guess I'm the one who broke the fence, then? Trampled my own garden, did I?
		NYLEN	Fool. It'll be the whole village's problem if we lose them.

	Did I hear something about missing goats?
		NYLEN	No. Maybe. What do you care, outsider?
	I could find them for you.
		NYLEN	Now why would you do a thing like that? It's not like I can pay you. And I'm not setting foot in those woods until the soldiers are gone.
		NYLEN	Look, if you really want to help, speak to Dalrand and convince him to spare a tracker. If they can find out where the herd was taken, maybe the hunters can get them back.
	Where should I look for him?
		NYLEN	Near the Elder's House. He's set up a tent there to oversee the rescue efforts. You can't miss it.

		FAELAR	Listen, will you? It's nothing shady this time.
		CADORATH	That'll be the day.
		FAELAR	I'm serious! This could help the whole village.
		CADORATH	How is stealing from soldiers going to fix their problems?
		FAELAR	It's not stealing. It's a whole wagonful of supplies abandoned near the road. Food, medicine, warm clothing.
		CADORATH	It's a trap, Faelar. Don't be naïve. Now buy something or get out.

What's this about a wagon?

FAELAR

It's military supplies, left behind after the attack. It's all good stuff that folks here could use, but I need help bringing it back.

Your friend seems to think it's a trap.

FAELAR

I've watched for three days now and haven't seen a soul except squirrels. The soldiers are on the other side of the valley now. I'm telling you, they're not gonna bother with one broken wagon.

All right. I'll help you get it.

FAELAR

Wait, really? I mean, that's great! I don't have much coin, but I'm sure there's something in the wagon that's valuable.

FAELAR

I'm gonna grab some supplies. When you're ready, meet me on the south road and we'll go together.

Soldiers don't abandon supplies lightly. You shouldn't meddle.

FAELAR

What would you know? Their supplies come direct from the lordling at Gallings Hill. They can afford to be wasteful, while we starve. If you're not going to help, then stay out of my way.
