

Item descriptions for swords in a roguelite game where you switch between the perspectives of two young men--one a vampire and the other a vampire hunter--who are sworn enemies. On the first page, each description is 20 words or less, and on the second each description is 50 words or less. I wrote this as an exercise in brevity and adapting to space constraints.

Item	Description	Faction	Rarity
Tiller's Razor	A sharpened shaving razor, with hairs still stuck to the blade. The wooden handle is worn and greying with sweat. It can't stop an assailant in their tracks, but in the right hand they'll bleed for every step.	Nightstalkers	★
Lacemont's Sword	A standard-issue Flickerwatch sword, used by citizen patrols. It's heavy and dull, better for hacking at thieves than deflecting a nightstalker's claws. Its previous owner died holding it, and stained the leather-wrapped handle with their blood.	Hunters	★
Lorenzo's Farewell	Alessio Lorenzo's personal stiletto, made of black iron. Where the blade meets the hilt, droplets of blood have been crudely engraved over time to mark his victims-- eight, before he got sloppy. It rested beside him in his crypt for a century, yet the rusted point draws blood when tapped.	Nightstalkers	★ ★
Captain's Token	When nightstalkers were discovered in the bowels of her ship, the captain of the Acheron rallied her crew and felled ten of them before dawn. This thin, angular sabre has been pocked by Nightstalker blood and the tip is chipped, but it will do in a fight.	Hunters	★ ★
Bloodbane	It's said the Bishop of Evercroix enchanted this blade with holy incantations at the behest of the Vérany family. Supposedly the spell burns out the eyes of nightstalkers and drives them mad, but the magic doesn't seem to work anymore.	Nightstalkers	★ ★ ★
Rosette Baselard	A simple, inconspicuous shortsword. Few would spare a second glance at it, but if they did they'd notice the symbol of the Rosettes stamped into the pommel. It's well-balanced and lighter in the hand than it looks, perfect for surprising the unsuspecting.	Hunters	★ ★ ★

Nightfather's Favor	This dress sword has a finely wrought silver handle inlaid with bloody rubies. Only those who have impressed the leader of the Untermarkt can carry it as a token of his esteem. Its owner inspires reverence from other nightstalkers--both awe and envy.	Nightstalkers	★ ★ ★ ★
Birthright	Once the weapon of Francois V�rany, this longsword's golden hilt and intricate engravings are evidence of his legacy. Roses on thorny vines trail around the edge of the blade itself, and a medallion bearing the crest of house V�rany dangles from the handle on a ribbon of red silk.	Hunters	★ ★ ★ ★
Revenant	Nightfather Lukas cursed this blade with a powerful blood oath: that it will never leave the hand of his Chosen until the last of the V�rany line is extinguished. While holding it, whispers of the fallen damned scream their final miseries, demanding retribution.	Nightstalkers	★ ★ ★ ★ ★
Hauteclaire	Nightstalkers recoil from the divine light of this imposing greatsword, thrice-blessed by holy incantations. Those that come too near are blinded, and their skin sears at its touch. It's all that remains of Inquisitor Etienne V�rany's brutal crusade.	Hunters	★ ★ ★ ★ ★
